Purpose

The ICC serves a major role in planning and promoting the implementation of a coordinated and family-centered service system in order to address the needs of infants and toddlers with developmental delays or disabilities and their families.

Function of the Council

Oklahoma's Interagency Coordinating Council for Early Childhood Intervention was established by a gubernatorial executive order in 1987. Members of the ICC are appointed by the governor. The ICC is required by Public Law 99-457, Part C as amended by the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act of 2004 and the Oklahoma Early Intervention Act. Administered by the Oklahoma Commission on Children and Youth, the ICC provides coordination for the planning, development and implementation of the statewide comprehensive service delivery system of services to Oklahoma's infants and toddlers with development delays and disabilities. In order to carry out this function, the council advises and assists the lead agency, the Oklahoma State Department of Education, and other participating state agencies on the broad range of policy and coordination issues.

Roles

- Achievement of participation, coordination and cooperation from all appropriate public agencies
- Identification and resolution of federal, state or local policies that impede timely service delivery
- Resolution of disputes
- Identification of fiscal and other support
- Assignment of financial responsibility to the appropriate agency
- Promotion of methods for intra-agency and interagency – including use of interagency agreements – collaboration regarding child find, monitoring, financial responsibility and provision of early intervention services
- Preparation and submission to the governor and to the federal secretary of education on the status of the SoonerStart program
- Advisement and assistance in the preparation of applications
- Transition of toddlers with developmental delays and disabilities to preschool and other appropriate services
- Provision of appropriate services for children from birth to age 5

ICC Membership

A unique feature of Part C is the mandate for developing service systems built on interagency collaboration and family-centered practices to be integrated into each state's existing service system. The federal regulations governing the ICC, 34 Code of Federal Regulations Section 303.601, describe the overall composition of the ICC and define specific percentages of membership. The ICC is comprised of governor appointed members representing families of young children with developmental delays or disabilities, representatives of state agencies, public and private providers, and the state legislature.

The ICC is composed of:

- 20 percent parents of children with developmental delays aged 12 or younger
- 20 percent public or private providers of early intervention services
- At least one member of the state legislature

- At least one member representing personnel preparation
- At least one member from each of the state agencies involved in the provision of, or payment for, early intervention services
- At least one member from the Oklahoma State Department of Education
- At least one member from the state Medicaid agency
- At least one member representing Head Start
- At least one member from the Oklahoma Department of Insurance
- At least one member from the mental health agency
- At least one member from a state agency representing child care
- At least one member representing the education of homeless children and youth
- At least one member representing the state child welfare agency responsible for foster care
- Other members selected by the governor

ICC Committees

The ICC does the majority of its work through committees. Standing committees and task forces address issues of funding, policy, personnel development, public awareness, program implementation and evaluation, family support and membership.

Standing committees and task force membership is not limited to ICC members and can be expanded as necessary to include additional parents and professionals whose expertise and perspectives are valuable additions to ICC planning efforts.

Parent experience on the ICC

As a Parent Representative of the ICC or as a member of one of six committees of the ICC, you will learn how the early intervention system works and be on the forefront of receiving information that affects the SoonerStart program. Parents have the opportunity to “sit at the table” and voice their opinions with other key advisors to the Oklahoma State Department of Education, lead agency for the SoonerStart program.

To whom it may concern,

The Oklahoma SoonerStart Early Intervention Program has helped our family in many ways throughout the last several years and we will never forget it. After my husband and I were faced with our only surviving twin being placed in the NICU after being born four months premature at 1 lb 7 ounces . . . SoonerStart quickly became involved. They provided us with all of the resources needed to overcome this nightmare. They helped us with developmental goals, hearing and vision exams, monthly in-home visits, transition and situational information, but most of all they gave us hope. They have become part of our family.

Simply put, SoonerStart was a miracle for us in our time of despair. They helped us through the unimaginable. They encouraged, supported and inspired us. I look forward to being able to give back and support this incredible program continue their mission.

ICC Parent Representatives

Parent representatives are voting members of the ICC, and as such are required to attend meetings five to six times a year. There is one parent chair and one parent vice chair. Parent representatives must have a child who is receiving or has received early intervention services.

ICC Meetings

ICC meetings are held quarterly and usually begin at 9:30 a.m. Meetings are open and accessible to the public, and anyone may share information or opinions during the public comment period held at each meeting. The ICC welcomes all parents, caregivers and service providers both public and private to its quarterly meetings. The meetings are opportunities for people involved in early intervention to advise and assist the Oklahoma State Department of Education in the implementation of the SoonerStart program. All dates, times and locations are listed on the OCCY Web site – www.okkids.org
